

Epic Trading International, LLC
Income Disclaimer

Epic cannot and will not make any guarantees about your ability to get results or earn any money with our program, information, tools or strategies. The plan rewards you for selling products and services to customers. While the opportunity is unlimited, individual results will certainly vary depending on many factors, such as commitment level, individual effort and marketing skills.

If income projections were presented to you prior to your enrollment, such projections are not representative of the income, if any, that you can or will earn through your participation in the Epic Compensation Plan.

Any and all income projections should not be considered as guarantees or projections of your actual earnings or profits. Success with the company results only from active participation and successful marketing efforts, which do require work, commitment and diligence on your part.